Leech Lake Tribal College Hosts Bike/Walk/Run

Two hundred sixty (260) people participated in the Bike/Walk/Run that was held at the Cass Lake Wayside Rest Area on Saturday, September 15, 2007. The walk was sponsored through a grant that was awarded by the Diabetes Education in Tribal Schools organization.

Gray sweat pants with blue print was given to everyone that participated. Most people walked the route, but some ran and also rode bikes that were available for rent at the event. There were 1 1/2 and 3 mile (one-way) increments that people were able to do their part of walking, running, or biking.

Because diabetes is so prevalent in Indian Country, this event was put on to provide more awareness to the public about diabetes education and about how important it is to exercise and stay healthy to prevent diabetes or to aid those that have already been diagnosed with it.

A healthy lunch of soup and sandwich was catered in by the Red Cedar Grill of the Palace Hotel and Casino in Cass Lake and was free of charge to all participants.

Many nice door prizes were also won by many.

Amy Erickson, coordinator of the event, said, "It's good for people to get out and get healthy. Walking is a very good form of exercise, it's good for your body and anyone can do it!"

many speakers/employees that spoke during the grand opening of the new Leech Lake Human Services Division building. She spoke of Rose Robinson, who is the Director for the Leech Lake Child Welfare Program when she said, "Her passion is well-known throughout the State of Minnesota". That passion is helping our Native children.

Elder and spiritual leader said he has walked the "Red Road" for the last twenty years now, and spoke of how our sacred items are starting to finally come back to us. He told of how a pipe has returned to where it rightfully belongs, to Leech Lake, and of how a ceremony will be conducted to bring the pipe back into the community. Smith provided the invocation and the smoking of the pipe before the Grand Opening ceremony began.

Most of the agencies were represented at the celebration. Now the Leech Lake Indian Child Welfare Program will start to offer Child Welfare services to our Native Children that were previously handled by the counties and the state. Robinson said, "We have to prevail, we know we have a vision to help our families to be healthy."

Leech Lake District Representative, Robbie Howe, talked of how things used to be back when she was growing up as a child and how it seemed like everybody helped everybody. She said, "Things are not like that anymore." She continued with, "If we just continue to work together, I think this is just the first step."

Leech Lake Chairman George Goggleye, Jr., commended the commitment that has been shown by all parties involved in this transition. He said, "Children are a precious gift to us, we need to leave them with something that they can be proud of."

Cass Lake Area Chamber of Commerce Donates Walleye

When the Professional Walleye Tournament was held on Cass Lake last summer, the walleyes that couldn't survive being thrown back after being caught were filleted and frozen and then donated to local organizations by the Cass Lake Area Chamber of Commerce. Pat Kvale, ENP Director, expressed her gratitude to the Chamber saying that, "We are so grateful for this donation, walleye is one of the things that the Elderly Nutrition Program (ENP) is not able to serve because of our limited budget. These fish will feed the elderly at two of our sites."

The Leech Lake Elderly Nutrition Program serves approximately 400 lunches combined to all 4 sites a day. Over 150 of them are served at the Cass Lake ENP site alone.

New Health Care Services Available to Elders

The Leech Lake Health Division recently finalized a contract with the Minnesota Department of Human Services that enables its staff to provide help so elders can remain in their homes. Until now, these services could only be accessed through county human service agencies. Professional nurses and a social worker are available for Long Term Care Consultation (LTCC) services for tribal members and their non-native spouses or other household members aged 65 and older living on the Leech Lake Reservation. The LTCC is now available to provide free in-home assessments to help elders and their families decide how much service is needed, and what services are available in the community. This visit is free.

Gloria Jones, RN, Home Care Coordinator for the Leech Lake Health Division, said "Karen (Jones, RN) and I are looking forward to providing this service to our elders. Sometimes a little help can make all the difference in an elder being able to stay in their home for as long as possible."

Funds can be used not only for alternatives to institutional care services, such as nurse visits, homemaking, chore services, home delivered meals, home modifications, respite care, personal care and necessary medical equipment. Team members can also provide information about housing alternatives such as assisted living and adult foster care, and can help plan for services and other supports needed to return to the community from a nursing home or other facility.

At the Long Term Care Consultation visit, the nurse or social worker will discuss payment sources, which could help with the cost of services. Medical Assistance pays for many of them. Other people are eligible for assistance with part or all of the cost of services through the Alternative Care (AC) or Elderly Waiver(EW) programs. For those eligible for one of the programs, a Leech Lake Health Division home care nurse or Social Worker will provide the care coordination to ensure that the elder is receiving the care they need in the way that they want it.

Call Peg Blakely, Waiver Program Coordinator, at (218) 335-4531 for more information about how to apply for this program.

The purpose of the funding is to deliver estate-planning services to members of Indian Tribes within the Leech Lake and White Earth Reservations.

At first, the meals that were provided were prepared from outside sources, such as Teal's, The Palace, Northern Lights, and Holiday Store. Eventually, community members gave suggestions to hire members from each community to prepare the meals. This idea allows community members to become involved in their neighborhood. Those initial meetings with each of the Local Indian Councils are just the first step in the Child Welfare's plan to engage the community. The Program will continue on with this community involvement mission by featuring forum discussions in another set of Local Indian Council meetings. During these forum discussions a Leech Lake Human Services survey will be passed out and a deadline will be set. Each participant who turns in a completed survey will be entered into a drawing to win household cleaning supplies. These supplies may include a new laundry basket packed full of different items such as laundry soap, towels and wash cloths, dish soap, dish cloths, shampoo, conditioner, toilet bowl cleaner, and toilet bowl brush, for example.

The survey will ask questions on the four Human Services programs. These programs include Child Welfare, Addictions and Dependency, Opiate Treatment, and Mental Health. The surveys will allow the Human Services

Child Welfare Program meets with LICs

By Lisa R. Sherman

Throughout the summer and fall months, the Leech Lake Child Welfare program held public education sessions during Local Indian Council meetings. The first meeting took place in mid-June at Sugar Point.

The attendants of the meetings were to provide a free meal and a presentation members of Indian Tribes within the Leech Lake and White Earth Reservations.

The survey will ask questions on the four Human Services programs. These programs include Child Welfare, Addictions and Dependency, Opiate Treatment, and Mental Health. The surveys will allow the Human Services

Division to study our Leech Lake communities to learn what families are doing in dealing with the child abuse and mental health issues that sometimes go hand-in-hand with substance abuse. The survey will also be geared toward obtaining suggestions on what the Human Services Division should be doing for the community, in addition to what is currently being provided.

Community education and involvement plays a large role in the Child Welfare program's vision. The phrase: "It takes a village to raise a child" expresses that idea. The Leech Lake Child Welfare hopes to contribute to the healthy upbringing of our children and with the community's help, our vision can be realized.

Foster Care Licensing on the Leech Lake Reservation

By Lisa Sherman, ICWA

The Leech Lake Child Welfare Program is currently responsible for issuing foster care licenses. If you are a Leech Lake Enrollee and live on or near the reservation you must go through the Child Welfare program for foster care licensing, instead of through the county.

There are different types of foster care categories including regular care, relative care, and emergency care. Regular Care is for foster care homes that provide care and supervision for children who are not related to the family. Relative care is for foster care homes that provide care and supervision only to children related to the extended family. Emergency care is for foster care homes that provide care primarily for limited emergency placements, usually lasting no longer than thirty days for any child.

Respite care is also available for licensed foster care homes. This is a temporary service that allows foster care families to place the foster children in another licensed foster care home, overnight or longer, for a period of time not to exceed 72 hours. Arrangements for Respite Care must have approval of the Child Welfare Program Licensing Coordinator.

If anyone is interested in becoming a foster parent, there is a series of steps that one must go through in the application process, which includes the passing of a background check for all of the household members 13 years of age and older who would be in direct contact with foster children.

For more information or if you have any questions, please contact Tracey Howg, the Leech Lake Child Welfare Licensing Coordinator at 218-335-3622.

Vision of the Leech Lake Child Welfare Program

By Rose Robinson and Lisa Sherman, Leech Lake ICWA

For parents and grandparents, child abuse and neglect is not an easy subject to talk about. Abuse and neglect upsets an innocent child's life and, if severe enough, will continue to harm a child throughout his or her life. This is a known psychological effect. It is even harder to imagine and discuss the physical dangers that take place when a child is being abused or neglected. Some people on the Leech Lake Reservation often do not know what to do when these things happen in their neighborhood. Other times they are afraid of what the consequences will be if they tell the authorities.

The Leech Lake Child Welfare Program aspires to protect Leech Lake children from abuse and neglect. In order to do this, the program encourages grandparents, aunts, & uncles to inform the authorities to protect these children if abuse or neglect is happening. If there is abuse or neglect in a home, relatives are contacted first if the child needs to be placed out-of-home. This is where the Indian Child Welfare Act (ICWA) is put into play. Indian children will not be taken from their family and tribe, if at all possible. The Leech Lake Reservation has the authority to keep children within our community. It is our responsibility to provide for this child in his or her time of need.

As a child protection program, the Child Welfare program understands the importance of belonging to a family. Our goal is to prevent the break-up of families and to build healthy communities. We believe it is the responsibility of the parents to provide nurturing, attentive, care and loving encouragement to their children. If these sorts of things are not happening, then child abuse and neglect are often the results.

To strengthen our community, the Leech Lake Child Welfare Program vows to encourage parents to learn resourceful parenting skills so as to be well-prepared for hard times when they are short on patience. Teaching parenting skills classes in each community is just one of the services planned for the near future, ideally starting as early as January 2008.

When a parent does not have the resources to be a suitable parent, it often comes back onto the child in the various forms of abuse or neglect. Sometimes elders may forget to give suggestions on what works appropriately when rearing children. This is where services within the Child Welfare Program will be available to the Leech Lake community. The program strives to build a healthy community by providing families with resources to raise children with morals, ethics and self-esteem so that they will have the upbringing to end the cycle of abuse. These children will then be able contribute to the healing of our community.

Rose Robinson, Program Director and the visionary person of the Child Welfare Program, often speaks of community healing and utilizing the Ojibwe value system. Through the community and the Child Welfare Program and other services, problems can be resolved before drastic actions take place, such as termination of parental rights. The Child Welfare Program provides access to a spiritual advisor when traditional healing needs to take place. If our community works together to protect our children, we all will be proud to live in a healthy Ojibwe community.

Cass Lake Dental Clinic Mission:

"To provide high quality dental and preventive services to as many patients as possible, within our limited range of resources, in a culturally sensitive environment."

We welcome members of any federally recognized tribe! We serve all ages of patients but we do give priority to children, elders, and diabetics. Our goal is to help you learn as much as possible about your oral health and dental care. We want to prevent as much disease as possible, and, we want you to take an active role in choosing the treatment you receive. Our very knowledgeable staff will take the time to answer your questions!

Children (age 0-18): Appointments available by calling anytime the clinics are open.

Adults (age 19-59): Adult exams are done daily. However, because there are a limited number of adult exam appointments available, the best times to call to make an adult exam appointment are Tuesdays beginning at 8:30. The appointments are made approximately 1 month in advance. Call anytime to check on availability or to be placed on a short call list. Once adults have been seen for an exam, they can schedule additional appointments to complete necessary treatment anytime over the next year (until their treatment plan expires).

Elders (age 60+) & Diabetic Patients: Appointments available by calling anytime the clinics are open.

Costs: Dental laboratory fees will be charged to patients so that we can provide higher levels of services including dentures, crowns, partials, and space maintainers.

Dental Services Available: Exams, cleanings, fillings, root canal therapy (except for 2nd & 3rd molars and difficult cases), crowns, extractions, dentures, and many other services. Your first visit will include the necessary x-rays and a thorough exam. Other treatment will be provided at additional appointments. We will provide as much treatment as possible at each appointment and will try to coordinate with appointments in other areas of the hospital. Denture and crown appointments are limited and you may be put on a waiting list – we appreciate your patience and will provide as many of these higher level services as possible. We are only able to make appointments for 2 household members for the same day at a time. We will also be booking out no more than 3 months in advance, so at times we may need to cut off appointments while we catch up.

Parents or guardians will need to accompany any children under the age of 18 to every exam and all emergency appointments and to appointments that involve extracting a tooth or starting a root canal. This is necessary so that we can explain the treatment options and get written consents. If no guardian is available during these appointments, the appointment will have to be canceled and rescheduled.

Emergencies: 7:45 AM Monday - Friday (except holidays & clinic closings). We are limited to seeing only those patients with swelling, significant pain, or broken teeth during this time on a first-come, first-served basis. Emergency patients that come in at a time other than this can not be guaranteed treatment and may be asked to return the following day during emergency time.

Broken appointments: If the dental clinic is not notified within 24 hours of the need to cancel or change an appointment, or the patient is more than 10 minutes late, it is considered a broken appointment. If two (2) appointments are broken within a year, the clinic can provide only emergency care to that patient for one year from the date of the 2nd broken appointment. During each dental appointment, we provide, on average, $200.00 of dentistry to each tribal member. Without proper notice, many thousands of dollars of dental care are lost each year that could have been provided to another tribal member. This system is our way of ensuring that as many people as possible can receive these valuable services!

How Do I Know if my Septic System is Working?

Properly working septic systems protect our lakes by breaking down organic solids and safely recycling wastewater back into the natural environment. How do you know if your septic system is functioning properly?

The most common reasons for septic system failure include poor installation (usually on unsuitable soils); tanks that are hard or impossible to reach for routine maintenance; parking or paving over drain fields; overloading the system; or interferences with the treatment process by tree roots or defective parts.

Telltale signs of septic failure include discolored soil, system backup into the home, saturated/muddy soils, lush green vegetation surrounding the drain field, or unpleasant odors in or around the house. Also pay attention to whether your toilet or sink drain slowly (or worse, backup) when you flush or do laundry. Unfortunately, by the time you see or smell these symptoms, contamination to the soil and groundwater has likely already occurred.

Avoid these problems by having your system serviced by a licensed professional at least once every three years. Having your septic tank inspected and pumped will ensure that your system is functioning properly and that non-degradable solids are removed from the system on a regular basis.

Other things you can do to maintain the proper functioning of your septic system include:

• Properly dispose of household toxics, such as oil-based paints and solvents, which will harm the living organisms in your septic that break down wastes;

• Avoid flushing large amounts of water through your system at once—such as draining hot tubs or water purification systems. This can cause re-suspension of solids that could clog your drain field.

• Frequent use of a garbage disposal will coat your tank with sludge that usually won't break down in the system. If you have a disposal, plan on pumping the system annually.

Even small amounts of phosphorus seeping into a lake from poorly functioning septic systems can have a large impact on water quality. Do your part in keeping our waters clean by maintaining your septic system and watching for signs of failure.

Leech Lake Tribal College Alumni in the Spotlight

Richard Armstrong graduated from Leech Lake Tribal College in 2002 with an A.A Degree in Ojibwe Studies he also earned his B.S degree in teaching in 2003.

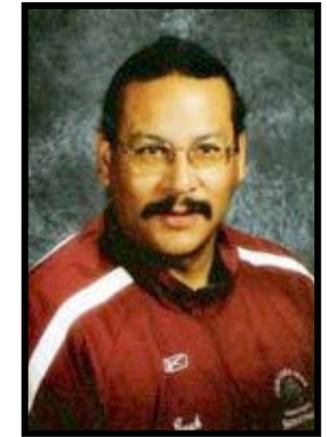

He is currently employed at the Chief Bug-O-Nay-Ge-Shig School teaching Ojibwe History. He has been married since 1987 to his wife Kristi. They had three children together, 9-year old Rebecca, 11-year old Ben, and 16-year old Everette, who passed on last fall. The couple also has two adopted sons Josh O'shea and Charlie Howe. Both boys are 16 years old.

One of the most outstanding memories Armstrong has about Leech Lake Tribal College is the story telling class, taught by Elaine Fleming. Armstrong says, "the Leech Lake Reservation is very fortunate to have a wonderful college that is centered on the traditional teachings of the Anishinaabe culture." He continued with "attending the Leech Lake Tribal College has been one of the best experiences in my life."

In the near future, he plans to continue his educational endeavors and hopefully earn a Masters degree in education. Armstrong strongly encourages our young people to attend LeechLake Tribal College for a fantastic educational experience.

SMSC to Unveil
Multi-Functional
Unit

Prior Lake, MN- The Shakopee Mdwakanton Sioux Community now has its own combination Mobile Medical and Incident Command Unit. The unit will house facilities for mammography and cancer screening in addition to emergency response.

The Mobile Unit is a project of the SMSC Health Department and Mdwakanton Emergency Services. The high rates of cancer of all types in Native communities as well as the need for on-site services to improve health screening rates for earlier detection of problems led to a wider medical focus for the unit. "As part of our continuing efforts, we decided the addition of a command center for assisting with large scale emergencies would greatly benefit our Community, neighboring communities, and Native communities throughout the region," said SMSC Emergency Services Director Jim Muelken.

The Mobile Unit was built by Farber Specialty Vehicles of Columbus, Ohio. It is expected to go into service in October 2007. The Mobile Unit will initially provide services to SMSC employees during health screening events. Other plans are to provide services to Minnesota Indian communities in both rural and urban settings. The Mobile Unit was introduced at the 2007 SMSC Annual Wacipi and utilized as the event command center.

The Mobile Unit has two radiology suites, one for mammography and one for chest x-rays. These suites are fitted with state of the art digital systems that provide screening for breast and lung cancers. The remainder of the Mobile Unit is fitted with a laboratory to screen patients for prostate cancer, diabetes, and other illnesses. There is a larger open space, which can serve multiple functions such as a temporary dental clinic, an emergency medical treatment area, or a meeting area for tactical planning to be used to coordinate services in case of a large-scale emergency.

The emergency response component includes radio, telephone, satellite, and visual recording of the emergency scene as a part of the command center functions that will be used by Mdwakanton Emergency Services as needed. An electronic medical record process is also being planned as part of the unit.

"The goal of this project is to offer quality health care services for staff, Community members, and Native American communities. With the Mobile Unit going to other Native American communities, tribal members will be more likely to get preventative health screenings which will allow early detection of disease and hopefully improve life expectancy," said SMSC Health Administrator James Lien.

"The emergency response component of this unit will allow the SMSC to help out in the event of a local or regional crisis. Since emergency preparedness is one of the priorities for the Community," said Muelken, "we are always looking at ways to be of assistance to the larger community if we are needed."

About Mdwakanton Emergency Services and the SMSC

Mdwakanton Emergency Services, a full-time, professional fire department staffed 24 hours a day, seven days a week, is owned and operated by the Shakopee Mdwakanton Sioux Community, a federally recognized Indian Tribe in Minnesota. The department responds to an average of 200 calls a month. In October 2004 Mdwakanton Fire added ambulance service and now makes an average of 60 ambulance transports a month.

The Mdwakanton Emergency Services Department administers the Mdwakanton LIFE program, which donates defibrillators to charitable organizations, law enforcement programs, tribes, fire departments, and schools and provides free training on their use. Each donation includes a cabinet, an extra battery, and other supplies in addition to the unit itself. Organizations in need of an AED may write a letter to the SMSC Business Council and mail it to Mdwakanton LIFE Program, Mdwakanton Emergency Services, 2330 Sioux Trail NW, Prior Lake, Minnesota 55372. Inquiries may be made to 952-233-1077. A form can also be downloaded at www.mdefire.org.

The SMSC utilizes its financial resources from gaming and non-gaming enterprises to pay for all of the internal infrastructure of the Tribe, including but not limited to housing, roads, water and sewer systems, emergency services, and essential services to its Tribal members in education, health, and welfare. The SMSC has a charitable giving program, which comes from a cultural and social tradition to assist those in need. Over the past several years the SMSC has donated more than $95.5 million to charitable organizations and Indian Tribes, including more than $20.5 million in fiscal year 2007. The SMSC is also the owner and operator of Mystic Lake Casino Hotel, Little Six Casino, The Meadows at Mystic Lake Golf Course, Playworks, Dakotah! Sport and Fitness, and other enterprises on the reservation south of the Twin Cities.

Bemidji-Grand Rapids

230-kV line

Open house meetings for the proposed 230-kilovolt transmission line

Date	Place	Time
October 9	Bemidji, Hampton Inn 1019 Paul Bunyan Drive S	4:30 - 8:00 P.M.
October 10	Cohasset Community Center 305 Northwest 1st Avenue	4:30 - 8:00 P.M.
October 11	Cass Lake, Palace Casino 6280 Upper Cass Frontage Road NW	4:30 - 8:00 P.M.

Property owners and others who have an interest in the area between Bemidji and Grand Rapids are invited to open house information sharing meetings about a 230-kilovolt transmission line that Minnkota Power Cooperative, Otter Tail Power Company, and Minnesota Power are proposing.

To improve regional electric system reliability and meet customers growing need for electricity, the utilities are proposing to construct about 68 miles of new 230-kV transmission line between the Wilton Substation near Bemidji and the Boswell Substation near Grand Rapids.

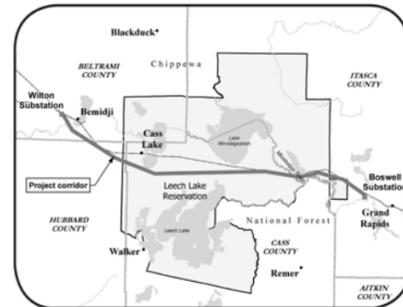

At the open house meetings you'll have an opportunity to:

- See the routes the utilities plan to recommend to the Public Utilities Commission.
- Provide input on both the need for the proposed project and the route.
- Understand how the siting process works.
- Learn about the role this project plays in the CapX 2020 transmission initiative.

Come anytime during the open house hours and share your insights about this project. Utility representatives from the different project areas will be available to listen to your input and answer questions about the project benefits, route options, the routing and permitting process, environmental impacts, CapX 2020, and the project in general.

If you'd like to know more about the Bemidji-Grand Rapids project but are unable to attend these open houses, please contact:

Delivering electricity you can rely on

Bemidji – Grand Rapids 230-kilovolt Transmission Line Project

By Cindy Kuisimi, Ottertail Power Company

Minnkota Power Cooperative, Otter Tail Power Company, and Minnesota Power are proposing a 230-kilovolt transmission line between Bemidji and Grand Rapids. The utilities have been studying options and gathering public input. The following begins a series of articles regarding the need for the project along with responses to some commonly asked questions at recent Leech Lake Local Indian Council meetings.

Electric power demand in the Bemidji area continues to grow. The only 230-kV line that serves the area today is a line from Winger to Wilton. This puts the Bemidji area at risk for blackouts and brownouts when the Winger line is out of service.

CapX 2020, a long-range planning effort consisting of cooperative, municipal, and investor-owned utilities that serve Minnesota, has projected that the regional demand for electricity will grow about 1.5 to 2 percent a year. CapX 2020 identified four Group 1 projects needed to maintain regional reliability including the Bemidji-Grand Rapids project.

The proposed project end points are the Wilton Substation, located west of Bemidji, and the Boswell Substation, located west of Grand Rapids, near Cohasset.

One question that is often asked relates to the health risks from power lines, specifically regarding electric and magnetic fields (EMFs). Health risks, such as EMFs, are an important factor when developing power line alternatives. The utilities involved in the Bemidji-Grand Rapids project strive to maximize the distance between the lines and homes, schools, and businesses.

After more than 30 years of scientific research, international experts have not uncovered a link between EMF exposure and human health impacts. Despite this, the utilities err on the side of caution when determining new power line routes.

EMFs are strongest at the power line and decrease rapidly with distance from the source. Most people use products every day, such as hair dryers and copy machines that expose them to higher EMF levels than they would experience at the edge of the power line right-of-way.

The next series of public open houses will be held October 9-11, 2007 (see ad to the left). The utilities also plan to meet with LIC representatives October 23 at 5:30 p.m. at Northern Lights Casino for a project update.

OPINIONS

I want to bring up a matter that concerns me and my family of Ball Club, St. Joseph's Catholic Church. We are discouraged about memorial flowers that are being thrown into the woods near the cemetery, instead of using trashbags and thrown away in a trash can.

This is a disgrace to family and friends that go out there to pay respect to their loved ones that has passed on. If the flowers are to be removed by a certain time or date, that information should be passed on to the family members so the family can remove them themselves.

And the lawn - my nephew is mowed in quite sometime. His birthday was a little bit ago, and my nephew and niece had to go out there and mow their side and the one next to him because it looked bad for people that would have went to see him on his birthday!

If help is needed with keeping the grass mowed, or picking up the flowers, or just taking care of the grounds, the community should come together and help in whatever way we can.

Leech Lake Twin Cities Office 2007 Elders Feast

What a beautiful and sunny day for a walleye and wild rice feast! What day wouldn't be good for a walleye and wild rice feast? Approximately 100 people (mostly elders) attended the 2007 Leech Lake Twin Cities Office Elder's Feast.

Minneapolis Office Director, Avis Poupart, brought in some speakers to speak to the elders on issues that are of importance to them, such as Social Security, Medicare, Prescription Drug Benefit, Elder Abuse, First Nations Recovery Center, and the MN Kinship Caregivers Association. These speakers proved to provide some very valuable information to our elders in attendance. Many questions were raised. For further information on any of the above subjects, you may call the Minneapolis office at 612-729-0554, and they can provide you with an elder's resource directory.

Since many of the elders and grandparents and relatives (like everywhere else) are raising either the grandkids or relatives kids, a Grandparents Support Group is offered at the Office of Indian Ministry in Minneapolis for those who choose to partake. (See information to the right.)

Marion Parker, Twin Cities Elder, thanked the Tribal Council for the "wonderful job you are doing, keep taking care of our people, we are so proud of you!"

The beautiful star quilt pictured to the right was given away to Richard White during the Grand Prize Drawing. Two beautiful, fuzzy blankets with the words "Anishinabe Elder" on them and fifty dollar Walmart gift certificates were also given away for door prizes.

Chippewa National Forest Welcomes New Walker District Ranger

Carolyn Upton has been selected as the new Walker District Ranger for the Chippewa National Forest. She is currently the Ecosystem, Resource and Planning Staff Officer on the Idaho Panhandle National Forests, where she has worked for five years.

Ms. Upton comes to the Walker Ranger District with eighteen years of experience on the western National Forests, including the White River National Forest in Glenwood Springs, Colorado and the Rocky Mountain Regional Office in Denver. As the Forest Planner on the White River, she worked with Forest plan revision. Upton noted that, "My planning background has given me a strong belief in public and intergovernmental cooperation. I have participated in many public involvement activities and look forward to meeting members of the public, agencies, Leech Lake Band of Ojibwe and other partners in the Walker community. I believe that through such collaboration, the people of Minnesota add tremendous value to the national treasure that is the Chippewa National Forest".

The new Walker District Ranger begins on October 1, 2007. She is looking forward to exploring the hardwood forests with her husband, Phillip and two young sons, Jason and Daniel. Ms. Upton also welcomes Minnesota winters, having grown up in Buffalo, New York.

For more information on the Chippewa National Forest, please call 218-335-8600.

Chippewa National Forest Joins in on a National Day for Kids

More than 1,000 Boys & Girls Clubs around the world celebrated "Day for Kids" on September 15, 2007, including the Cass Lake and Walker communities on the Chippewa National Forest. The day was all about working with communities to reinforce our commitment to area youth, and by the end of the day, over 200 kids joined in the fun!

Chippewa National Forest employees signed right on for the event, knowing it was a great chance to highlight "More Kids In the Woods". "We've partnered with the Cass Lake Boys and Girls Club in the past, knew they would put together a great "Day for Kids" and really wanted to be a part of it!" said Mary Nordeen, Public Affairs Specialist.

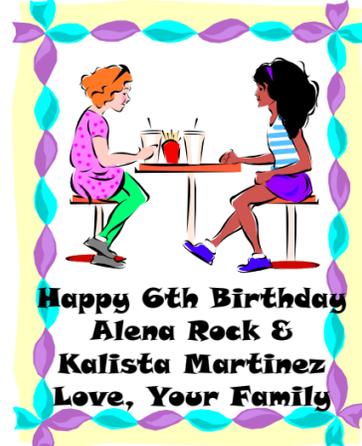

So among all the face painting, basketball tournaments, obstacle course, dunk tank and popcorn, was a big section along the pines with a Forest Service display filled with photos of young people hiking, fishing and exploring the Forest. As kids filed past the display, they found Mary, covered in paint and glitter at the Fish Printing table and Joyce Rairdon, Administration Assistant, tangled in fishing line, leading the kid's casting contest. And everyone was laughing.

These kids have grown up along the shores of two large lakes, Cass Lake and Leech Lake, but we were surprised that some had never cast a line. The activities were a chance to show that we are a National Forest of over half water, and lots of fish. We invited them to explore the Forest and lakes with us.

Some of the kids early in the day recognized the Forest uniform from a school program, or from biking out to the nearby Visitor Center. Hopefully all the kids will remember the Forest for joining in on a day to appreciate kids for being....kids. We look forward to our continued partnership with the Cass Lake/Leech Lake Area Boys and Girls Club, and next year, we'll bring more fish!

Congratulations to Michelle Quaderer & Israel Munoz who were united as one in marriage on October 1, 2007! Love, Your Family

Sesquicentennial Plan for Our Future in Crow Wing County

Community leaders and citizens will gather Tuesday, October 23, 2007, from 6-8 p.m. as part of the Minnesota Sesquicentennial's Plan for our Future project.

As Minnesota's Sesquicentennial draws near, communities all across the state will be discussing how to ensure a thriving, innovative future for all Minnesotans. Crow Wing County will host the next in this series of statewide public forums co-hosted by the Minnesota Sesquicentennial Commission.

"The 150th anniversary of statehood is a milestone event all the kids will remember the Forest's history," explained Sesquicentennial Executive Director Jane Leonard, adding "It's an opportunity to take stock of where we are as a state and set goals for ourselves to prepare for a demanding future."

The purpose of the Plan for Our Future forums is to provide a snapshot of Minnesotans' ideas for the future at the crossroads of our 150th year. It will ask, and thru citizen input, answer the question, "What type of state do you want to leave to your children and grandchildren and great-grandchildren? And, given where we're at right now, and the trends we see, what are the key issues and challenges we have to deal with to make that future real?"

Happy Birthday to Sharon Johnson on October 5th and to Terry Johnson on October 15th.

The next Plan for our Future forum is being hosted by the Region Five Development Commission and held at Cragun's Conference Center, 11000 Cragun's Drive, Brainerd. It will be a public meeting so everyone is welcome and no RSVP is required. Participants are simply encouraged to show up with their values in hand and ideas for Minnesota's future in mind.

There will be at least one Plan for Our Future forum in each of Minnesota's 87 counties in the hope that every Minnesotan will have the opportunity to weigh in. Even if community members miss the public forum in their community, the Sesquicentennial is creating an online survey and discussion group at their website (www.mn150years.org) where individuals can add their voice to the discussion.

The goal of the forums and online survey is to have input from citizens across all 87 counties in Minnesota. After all the forums have been held, the Sesquicentennial Commission will compile the results into a comprehensive document to be used as a blueprint for current and future leaders at regional, state and national levels concerning Minnesota's future.

For more information about Region Five Development Commission's Plan for Our Future event, please contact Cheryal Lee Hills at (218) 894-3233 or by e-mail at chills@regionfive.org.

To get more information about the state Sesquicentennial and other Sesquicentennial events/programs happening around the state contact Tane S. Danger. He can be reached via email at tane@mn150years.org or on the phone at either (651)-296-1870 (office) or (612)-670-0596 (mobile).
