Leech Lake Band of Ojibwe to Address Critical Issues with Tiwahe Initiative Funding

CASS LAKE – The Leech Lake Band of Ojibwe recently received notification that it has been awarded a substantial grant as part of the Tiwahe Initiative expansion, led by the Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA). This pivotal funding is set to address a wide array of pressing challenges faced by the community, underscoring the tribe’s unwavering commitment to uplifting its members and preserving its rich cultural heritage. The tribe is expected to receive $500,000 in the first year and $1 million in each subsequent year for the duration of the program.

From Gathering Insights to Taking Action

The journey began in July 2023 when the Leech Lake Band of Ojibwe was selected to participate in the Tiwahe Incubator Program. This initial $100,000 award was strategically reinvested across all 17 communities within the reservation to organize social and cultural events. These gatherings serve a dual purpose—bolstering community involvement and collecting invaluable input regarding community service requirements.

These events emphasize the significance of inter-departmental collaboration, recognizing the varied needs of all age groups, from youth to elders. LLBO staff have been working closely with each Local Indian Council to ensure meaningful engagement within each community.

Key Activities and Outcomes

The Tiwahe Initiative is the driving force behind a series of initiatives that aim to reshape the Leech Lake community:

Tiwahe Steering Committee: A core cornerstone of the plan, this committee consists of key stakeholders representing various departments. Its role is to spearhead data-driven decision-making processes, drive organizational transformations, engage with the community, and safeguard the confidentiality of tribal data. The increased community engagement is expected to empower individuals, strengthen community bonds, and enhance participation.

Knowledgeable, Empowered, and Economically Secure: Leech Lake aims to broaden educational horizons, offering opportunities like vocational training, life skills coaching, financial literacy sessions, homeownership seminars, job search strategies, and leadership development workshops across all communities. The primary objective is to enhance educational access, impart essential life planning skills, boost financial understanding, and reduce homelessness.

Culturally and Spiritually Connected/Stewards of Natural Resources: The tribe is committed to safeguarding its cultural heritage and natural resources. Plans include the establishment of a Cultural Department to assist programs in embedding cultural elements within their frameworks and a dedicated language department to revitalize the Ojibwe language. These initiatives aim to foster a stronger sense of identity among community members, enhance community engagement, deepen understanding of traditional values, medicines, and foods, and fortify the preservation of indigenous knowledge and sacred sites.

Coordinated Service Delivery Model: Investment in staff capacity and professional development is a top priority. LLBO aims to pinpoint areas requiring quality improvement, technological advancements, and training to address communication barriers. The goal is to integrate services, offering culturally supportive and coordinated wrap-around services with flexibility to meet individual needs.

Participation in Communities: A client tracking management system will be introduced to facilitate collaboration and communication among Leech Lake’s service programs. This system will streamline intake processes and enhance accessibility for community members. Additionally, plans are underway to establish a Wellness Center in Cass Lake, designed to promote community engagement in sports and cultural activities.

Encourage Healthy Lifestyles: The tribe aims to rejuvenate and integrate Ojibwe culture, history, language, and traditional activities into youth and social services initiatives. These efforts seek to promote physical well-being, mental and behavioral wellness, alcohol and substance-free lifestyles, access to health services, and the availability of traditional and fresh foods. Support for staff well-being is also on the agenda to prevent burnout and maintain the delivery of compassionate services.

Safe And Equitable Justice and Social Welfare Systems: Plans involve hiring attorneys and an additional judge to address child welfare cases and expand wellness courts. The tribe seeks to create cultural alternatives to incarceration, reduce criminal incidents, and enhance avenues for support, advocacy, and reentry.

Safe Nurturing Relationships and Connected Families: Additional staff members will be hired to increase support to Leech Lake foster families and families involved in child welfare. Intensive wrap-around and follow-up services are planned to build resilient families.

A Collective Effort for a Brighter Future

As the Tiwahe Initiative takes shape, community members are invited to actively engage, collaborate, and contribute to the collective mission of building a stronger, healthier, and more resilient Leech Lake community.

While the challenges are substantial, the dedication of tribal leaders, community partners, and the support of the Tiwahe Initiative funding offer promise for a thriving and culturally vibrant Leech Lake Reservation.

The road ahead is one of collaboration, resilience, and cultural preservation, and the Leech Lake Band of Ojibwe is poised to meet these challenges head-on for the betterment of its community and generations to come.

About the Tiwahe Initiative

The term “Tiwahe” originates from the Lakota language, embodying the concept of family and highlighting the intricate interdependence among all living entities. It also underscores an individual’s duty to safeguard not only their kin but also the community and the natural world.

The Tiwahe Program builds communities of hope by cultivating culture and connection. Tiwahe fosters systemic change in the delivery of services to children and families through the integration of Tribal practices, customs, values and traditions. Tiwahe is made up of several components, which work together to protect and promote the development of prosperous and resilient Tribal communities.

Monthly Report

Boozhoo, my relatives, friends, community members and all! The Leech Lake RBC Tribal Council is moving forward on a focused agenda with Leech Lake priorities before the U.S. Congress. The Tribal Council members continue to work diligently in lobbying for unmet need dollars for the Leech Lake Band and its People. As we continue to move forward, here is some of the news being reported to the great Leech Lake Nation.

Leech Lake Band of Ojibwe

Awarded $439,188 – On December 21, 2023 Chairman Jackson, Sr. had been notified that Leech Lake Public Safety was awarded aid by the State of Minnesota and Governor Walz. Governor Walz signed $300 million into law for cities, counties, and Tribes to meet their unique public safety, fire, or emergency needs. The local public safety aid can be used for, but is not limited to training programs, community engagement, personnel or equipment costs, office wellness, mental health crisis response, and victim services. Chairman Jackson had stated, “These one-time funds will greatly help with equipment purchases and our public safety needs.”

Leech Lake Onigum

Community Christmas Party – On December 10, 2023 Chairman Jackson, Sr. and his wife Laurel had a special treat for the children at the Christmas Party in Onigum. A call was placed to the Onigum Community Center because Mr. and Ms. Santa Jackson had been spotted arriving with Rudolph. The party had included gifts for the children, drawings, great food, visiting with old friends, and good holiday time for the children. Ms. Jackson had chowed up Turkey, mashed potatoes, and the best baked beans. Chairman Jackson, Sr. and wife Laurel Receive RSV Vaccination from I.H.S. – On December 21, 2023 Chairman Jackson, Sr. and his wife Laurel had been vaccinated for RSV. Respiratory syncytial virus, or RSV, is a common virus that affects the lungs. RSV season starts in the fall and peaks in the winter in most regions of the U.S. The CDC is recommending vaccinations for infants and older adults are more likely to develop severe RSV and need hospitalization. If you are age 60 or older, a vaccine is available to protect you from severe RSV. Talk to your healthcare provider (I.H.S.) to see if it’s right for you. If you are pregnant, you can get an RSV vaccine between 32-36 weeks of pregnancy to protect your infant after birth, or a preventive antibody can be given to your baby after birth. Chairman Jackson, Sr. had taken the RSV vaccination because of the severity of the flu season and the new strains of Covid-19. Cass Lake I.H.S. has other vaccines for Covid-19, the flu, RSV, and Shingles that are free for the Leech Lake Band members.

President Biden Pardons Marijuana Use Nationwide – On December 22, 2023, President Joe Biden announced Friday he’s issuing a federal pardon to every American who has used marijuana in the past, including those who were never arrested or prosecuted. The sweeping pardon applies to all U.S. citizens and lawful permanent residents in possession of marijuana for their personal use and those convicted of similar federal crimes. The implications of Biden’s pardon promise to have significant implications, as criminal records for marijuana use and possession have imposed barriers to employment, housing, and educational opportunities. However, the pardons do not apply to people who violated state law, and anyone who wants to receive proof of a pardon will have to apply through the Department of Justice.

Chairman Jackson, Sr. Attends MCT, TEC Special Meeting – On December 11, 2023 Chairman Jackson, Sr. had attended the MCT, TEC meeting at St. Paul, MN. The MCT, TEC had removed the Enrollment Ordinance changes that would have added a section on MCT children that had been adopted but not enrolled. The MCT, TEC had a presentation from Anita Fineday and Aaron Bailey had done a presentation on the changes with the Department of Children & Families. A new department will be developed for Minnesota Native American programs and have a new commissioner. Chairman Jackson, Sr. had commented on how important the Minnesota programs for Native Americans be under one umbrella. We had past problems, Minnesota Commissioner Harpstead had been notified that the counties were out of compliance with the ICWA law. We must keep the lines of communication open with this new department and addressing how the counties are held accountable for not following ICWA and depriving our families and the children their rights under this law. The MCT TEC had approved the Election Calendar.

Safety note, the weather on the Leech Lake has been unpredictably warm. The highways can be dangerous with black ice and morning frost. Check the weather updates on Minnesota 511 Travel Report. Please check the batteries on the smoke detectors, check furnace filters for better heating efficiency and limit furnace overheating. Please be safe and take care!

COUNTRY DEVELOPMENT
On December 1, 2023, I attended the last meeting of 2023 for the Center for Indian Country Development Leadership Council. We discussed upcoming data tools the Center will be unveiling in order to assist Tribal governments across the country with decision making, including the Native Community Data Profile tool that was released on December 13, 2023. Please check with the Center’s website for more information on this and other work the Center has accomplished in 2023.

TIWAHE INITIATIVE
On December 1, 2023, Leech Lake leaders had a call with Bryan Newland, Assistant Secretary for Indian Affairs regarding the Tiwahe Initiative. We were informed that Leech Lake was selected as one of two tribes to join the Initiative, which will mean the first substantial increase in our Self Governance base funding for the first time since the 1990s. The funding for the first year is $500,000.00 and the second year—and every year thereafter—is $1,000,000.00. The Initiative focuses on human services, public safety and justice programming to work together to protect and promote healthy and resilient tribal families and communities. We are very excited about Leech Lake’s inclusion in this Initiative and look forward to working together to develop effective solutions that will assist our communities and families. Staff have been working closely with the local Indian Councils to develop plans for how this Initiative can best serve Leech Lake. Please watch for further updates and announcements as we move forward with implementing this new Initiative.

WHITE HOUSE TRIBAL NATIONS SUMMIT
On December 6 and 7, 2023, I was able to represent the Leech Lake Band at the White House Tribal Nations Summit in Washington, D.C. At the summit, we heard from various federal departments and agencies regarding tribal priorities. We also were able to have several direct conversations with cabinet officials regarding our individual tribal priorities and how to strengthen the relationship between the federal government and Tribal governments. I was able to attend sessions with the Department of Justice, the Department of Housing and Urban Development, the Department of Transportation and the Environmental Protection Agency. It was a jammed packed couple of days, but many good conversations were had and many Leech Lake issues were elevated, including the need to adequately clean up the Superfund site, the need for additional housing (including middle income housing) on the reservation, and the need for increased infrastructure and transportation.

MINNESOTA CHIPPEWA TRIBE
On December 11, 2023, the Minnesota Chippewa Tribe held a special Tribal Executive Committee meeting regarding the upcoming 2024 MCT Election. The TEC approved minor updates to the Election Ordinance and the 2024 Election calendar. Filing for the open RBC positions will begin on January 12, 2024 and continue until January 22, 2024. Please watch for additional updates for upcoming deadlines.

On December 21, 2023, I had a call with the team conducting the forensic audit for the Minnesota Chippewa Tribe. They reported adequate and timely progress was being made on the audit, with appropriate responses so far to the document requests they have made to management. They still anticipate a target completion date of March 2024 for their final report, with a presentation to the TEC in April 2024.

MINNESOTA LEGISLATURE UPDATE
On December 15, 2023, Leech Lake leaders and staff met with Representative Zach Stevenson, Chair of the House Commerce Committee. The meeting centered on the upcoming 2024 Minnesota legislative session with topics ranging from sports betting to cannabis to broadband. We also discussed the Leech Lake Cannabis Regulatory Act and where tribes are at in the negotiation of cannabis compacts with the State. The meeting was productive and we look forward to positive results in the upcoming session.

SUPERFUND UPDATE
On December 19, 2023, the RBC approved an agreement with Hydrogeologic, Inc to provide technical assistance and support regarding the St. Regis Superfund Site. Hydrogeologic, Inc’s work will focus on providing updated remedial alternatives for Operable Units 1 and 2 that more adequately reflect the clean up standards required by tribal law than the alternatives currently under consideration by the EPA. This work will commence very soon so that the updated alternatives can be provided to the EPA while they are still in the remedial selection process for OUs 1 and 2. Overall, work on getting the entire site cleaned up to an appropriate standard is an arduous task, but I am thankful for the diligent work of the Environmental and DRM teams for the progress made the last several months.

TRIBAL STATE PARTNERSHIP
Throughout the month of December, I have had many meetings with stakeholders in the Minnesota Judicial Branch, the Minnesota Department of Human Services and other tribes regarding the upcoming Tribal State Partnership grant that the Judicial Branch obtained from the federal government. Under the Partnership, state and tribal stakeholders in Minnesota will work collaboratively to effectuate positive outcomes for indigenous families involved in the justice system. This work has long been one of my passions, and I am thankful for the opportunity to continue in a leadership role. The Tribal State Partnership is still in its infancy stage and work is picking up where the Children’s Justice Initiative ICWA Subcommittee left off. Please continue to watch for further updates on our progress.

This concludes my report for December, 2023. As always, it is a privilege and honor to serve each of you. I wish a safe, healthy and prosperous 2024 to all! Chi mitwegh!
WASHINGTON – The White House Council on Native American Affairs (WHCNA) is taking critical steps to improve access to capital across Indian Country.

WHCNA is launching an online clearinghouse that will serve as a searchable repository for an up-to-date list of all federal funding opportunities, including grants and loans, available to Tribal Nations and Native businesses.

The WHCNA and the Interior Department's Bureau of Indian Affairs created a central database that will ensure that Tribes are able to easily navigate and access the financial opportunities provided across the federal government. The version of the website that can be found today (www.bia.gov/atc) has over 500 federal funding programs and will serve as an initial version, with the goal of soliciting feedback to continually improve user experience.

Indigenous communities have long faced barriers to gaining access to federal resources. Through the White House Council on Native American Affairs, we want to make sure that we’re not just delivering more resources for Indian Country, but that they are getting to Indian Country,” said Secretary Deb Haaland, who serves as co-chair of the WHCNA.

The WHCNA will hold Tribal consultations and listening sessions starting in January 2024 to hear from Tribal leaders and experts on the RFI. Once completed, this data call will help the WHCNA gauge the awareness, accessibility and utilization of federal sources of funding by Tribal Nations for areas of housing, education, healthcare, social services, food and agriculture, justice, economic development, and infrastructure.

Increasing access to capital across Indian Country has been a central focus of the Biden-Harris administration.
USDA Unveils Initiatives to Empower Indigenous Youth in Agriculture and Careers at 2023 Summit

A comprehensive approach includes educational programs, scholarships and partnerships to foster food sovereignty, traditional wisdom and career opportunities.

By KAYLA DUOOS

WASHINGTON – At the 2023 White House Tribal Youth Summit, the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) presented new resources they’ll be launching to inspire Native American youth to explore Indigenous foodways and knowledge and highlight career paths at USDA and beyond.

“USDA is reimagining how we support Indigenous agriculture and tribal communities,” said Agriculture Secretary Tom Vilsack. “This includes reaching out to the next generation with educational opportunities both formal and informal.”

These efforts are part of USDA’s commitment to empowering tribal self-determination and bringing Indigenous perspectives into agriculture, food, and nutrition. Among their new programs include post-secondary funding, Native youth summer programs, and funding to several organizations to begin providing traditional foods in schools.

NEW USDA ACTIONS
• “Sovereignty Gardens” Children’s Educational Animated Series. This series of short educational shows will help build excitement and pride with children about using Indigenous knowledge in gardening, food sovereignty, traditional foods, and healthy eating habits. “Sovereignty Gardens” uses animation and puppetry to follow Stompy the buffalo and his friend Bran through a series of learning adventures, which include cameos by Indigenous and scientific leaders. USDA Office of Tribal Relations entered into a cooperative agreement with Dr. Lee Francis (Pueblo of Laguna) (Indigi-Nerd/Native Realities) to create this animated series.
• Indigenous Foods Foraging and Cooking Videos for Northeast and Southeast Regions. The Office of Tribal Relations Indigenous Food Sovereignty Initiative partnered with the North American Traditional Indigenous Food Systems (NATIFS) to produce a series of videos on Indigenous foods foraging and cooking for the Northeast and Southeast regions to complement USDA’s Food Distribution Program on Indian Reservations (FDPIR) commonly referred to as “commodities” food packages. Last year, USDA released videos for the Midwest, Mountain Plains, and Southwest regions. Next year videos will be produced for Alaska and Hawaii.
• Indigenous Knowledge Research Track Winners. USDA’s Office of Tribal Relations, in partnership with the American Indian Science and Engineering Society (AISES), announces the first students selected for the newly launched AISES research track celebrating the intersection of Indigenous knowledge (IK) and western science and engineering. Selected students will carry out research projects studying topics such as ethnobotany, mental health, and traditional medicine. This year’s cohort will be the first in a three-year series.
• New Four-Year Tuition Coverage for Tribal Scholars Program. The USDA 1994 Tribal Scholars Program provides full tuition, fees, books, a housing stipend, and paid workforce training to any interested and eligible student pursuing degrees in agriculture, food, natural resource sciences, or related academic disciplines at a tribal college or university (TCU). Eligible applicants include graduating high school seniors, full-time students currently enrolled at a 1994 land-grant tribal college or university, or recent TCU associate degree graduates. For FY 2024, 27 scholarship slots are available at Agriculture Research Service, Farm Service Agency, Farm Production and Conservation, Forest Service, National Institute of Food and Agriculture, and Natural Resources Conservation Service. The application deadline is December 1, 2023. Visit the USDA 1994 Tribal Scholars Program or email 1994@usda.gov for further information.

Biden-Harris Administration Empowers Tribal Nations at 3rd Annual Summit: Unveiling Historic Progress for Indigenous Sovereignty

By KAYLA DUOOS

WASHINGTON – The 3rd Annual White House Tribal Nations Summit took place December 6 and 7. The summit hosted by the Biden-Harris Administration is a show of their commitment to strengthening Nation-to-Nation relationships.

Tribal leaders in attendance had the chance to speak with the President, Vice President, eleven Cabinet members, and additional Senior Administration officials. Historically, federal policies attacked Native people’s rights to self-governance and caused lasting economic damage. Biden said the actions at the summit were “key steps” that would help usher in a new era of tribal sovereignty. “A new era grounded in dignity and respect that recognizes your fundamental rights to govern and grow on your own terms,” he said.

During the Summit, the Biden-Harris Administration also released a comprehensive 2023 Progress Report for Tribal Nations, which outlines historic progress the Administration has made over the past year to deliver on the President’s commitment to supporting Indian Country and address the top concerns of Tribal communities. In addition to highlighting previous work, more than 190 agreements were announced following the first day of the summit that will allow tribes to manage federal lands, waters and natural resources and a new study to help better interpret and tell the history of Native Americans, particularly during periods of federal reform. If you’re interested in learning more about the Tribal Nations summit, full videos of the summit can be found on the White House Youtube page and a summary report of the 2023 progress report is available at whitehouse.gov

Actions taken in 2023 to address Tribal concerns
• The Federal Government signed more than 190 co-stewardship or co-management agreements, which allow Tribal Nations to collaborate with the Federal Government to manage the federal lands, waters, and resources that are most important to them. The announcements include the first ever co-stewardship agreement with the Department of the Interior (DOI), and over 120 new co-stewardship and co-management agreements with the Department of Agriculture (USDA), which also tripled its investment in these agreements to over $68 million.

New Work to Restore Tribal Bison Herds and Support Tribal Food Sovereignty. USDA will announce that the World Wildlife Fund, The Nature Conservancy, and other buffalo-focused non-profit organizations are joining its Public-Private Partnership with DOI, the InterTribal Buffalo Council, and Native Americans in Philanthropy to work on Tribal Bison expansion and conservation. Final Fee-to-Trust Land Acquisitions Rules. DOI will announce the publication of its final rule amending the process for Tribal Nations to expand their land bases by transferring land title to the United States to be held in trust for the benefit of an individual Indian or Tribe, including in Alaska. This process is crucial for Tribal economic development and Tribal sovereignty, and helps right the wrongs of past federal policies such as allotment, which removed millions of acres of land from Tribal ownership and federal protection. DOI's final rule creates a more efficient, less cumbersome, and less expensive fee-to-trust process, including for conservation purposes.

Final Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act (NAGPRA) Rule. DOI will announce final revisions of its NAGPRA regulations that provide a systematic process for returning human remains, funerary objects, sacred objects, or objects of cultural patrimony to Tribal Nations and Native Hawaiian Organizations. The regulatory changes streamline the requirements for museums and federal agencies to inventory and identify human remains and cultural items in their collections.

Plan to Update the Indian Home Loan Guarantee Program Rules. The Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) will announce plans to publish in 2024 a final rule to strengthen the Section 184 Indian Home Loan Guarantee Program—A Program synonymous with homeownership in Indian Country. HUD's proposed rule aims to modernize the program and provide more homeownership opportunities in Indian Country by codifying program requirements, introducing greater certainty into the program to attract more lenders, and authorizing HUD to establish a minimum level of lending on trust land.

Federal Emergency Management Agency Debuts Improvements to Tribal Nations’ Access to Resources Before, During, and After Disasters. The Department of Homeland Security’s (DHS) Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) will announce it is working to update policies that will improve FEMA’s ability to assist Tribal Nations recovering from disasters and expand a culturally competent FEMA workforce by increasing Tribal participation in shaping the Public Assistance programs, hiring more staff from Indian Country, and developing FEMA staff trainings.

Transfer Access to Capital Clearinghouse Launch. DOI and WHCNAA will launch a website that provides a searchable database of all federal funding opportunities, including grants and loans, available to Tribal Nations and Native businesses.

Request for Information on Tribal Funding Needs. DOI and WHCNAA will announce a draft Request for Information that, once finalized, will—for the first time—help the Federal Government estimate the additional funding that Tribal Nations require to meet their communities’ needs. The Request for Information will also seek information on barriers that Tribal Nations currently face in accessing federal resources.

WHCNAA will take the draft directly to Tribal consultation in January 2024.

Buy Indian Act Implementation. HHS and DOI will announce that significant percentages of their FY 2023 agency procurement spending on contracts and services went to Native-owned or controlled businesses under the Buy Indian Act. Indian Health Service (IHS) will announce it awarded $444 million (30.6%), HHS will announce that it awarded $1.5 billion (3.8%) overall, DOI’s Indian Affairs Bureau will announce they awarded $262 million (74.6%), and DOI overall will announce it awarded over $1.4 billion (16.9%) to Native-owned and controlled businesses, with over $1.0 billion awarded to Native-owned and controlled small businesses (18.1% of eligible small business dollars).

Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) Initiative on Native Children and Families. HHS will announce a series of actions and accomplishments that reflect a renewed focus on supporting Native Children and Families. This work includes streamlining Tribal applications for federal child care assistance; doubling the Tribal set aside funding for the Maternal, Infant, and Early Childcare Home Visiting Program; a new training on cross-cultural understanding for early childhood researchers; progress on the National Maternal Mental Health Hotline partnership with IHS; a new obstetric readiness in emergency care developed by IHS; and progress piloting maternity care coordinators through IHS.

Strategy for Tribes to Access Strategic National Stockpile. HHS will announce a forthcoming strategic plan for best practices on how IHS, Tribal Nations, and Urban Indian Organizations can access the lifesaving Federal repository of drugs and medical supplies to support Native communities, prevent supply shortages, and reduce health disparities.

2023 marked another high buying price for our community at 6$ per pound of green rice. We utilized the same wild rice buying plan that was implemented during the COVID-19 pandemic response. This plan was efficient again in limiting congregating in large groups while waiting for a slip / ticket. There were no issues in the alternate payment system utilized and it is recommended we continue with this plan moving forward. Currently there is no update on Take a Kid Ricing.

Charles “Punkin” Hanks, Jr.

Charles “Punkin” Hanks Jr., age 83, of White Earth, MN, died on Monday, December 4, 2023, at Moorhead Rehabilitation & Health Care Center, Moorhead, MN. Charles Louis Jr. was born February 1, 1940, in White Earth, MN, the son of Charles Louis Sr. and Margaret (Abbedaush) Hanks. He grew up in the White Earth area where he attended school. Following high school, Punkin entered the workforce and began as a lumberjack in Grand Portage. He traveled all over the country working a wide variety of jobs. Over the years, Punkin worked for Hellgrin Brothers, Peterson Truck Farm, as a ride operator for the carnival, driving truck for the sugar beet campaign, building houses in addition to many others. After several years he returned to the White Earth Reservation to put down roots. At age 35, he quit drinking and smoking and became a single parent of two children. Punkin became a traditional and spiritual man and a huge advocate against drinking among his native people, especially the youth. He furthered his education with carpentry classes at the Detroit Lakes Vo-Tech. An unfortunate on the job injury prohibited him from continuing a life of manual labor and he turned his work to helping through the church and the youth. He spoke to the youth at many schools and substance abuse programs and started a Talking Circle in Waubun for the youth. He taught them gardening, and maple syruping. Punkin was the Church for the Johnson O’Malley program for two years and the Chairman for the White Earth Community Council for 18 years. He became very involved with St. Columba Episcopal Church in White Earth serving as both Jr. and Sr. Warden, lay minister, helping with readings and leading wake services until they were able to get a full time Priest. Punkin learned to sing Ojibwe from his elders, and he’s been singing for over 50 years. He was part of the group, “The Ojibwe Singers”, who sang at many events like funerals, wake services, graduations, and Christmas songs at the casino. Their group traveled all over singing and were honored to sing at the Grand Ole Opry in Nashville and the Smithsonian in Washington, DC. Punkin was also honored to be featured in two books, Honoring Elders: Aging, Authority, and Ojibwe Religion, and Ojibwe Singers, written by Michael McNally.

In his younger years, he played football, basketball, and enjoyed berry picking and fishing. In more recent years, he liked playing cards, word search puzzles, watching old westerns and WWF on television and attending pow wows. Above all, Punkin loved spending time with his family, especially his grandchildren. Throughout his many travels, he met people and always parted ways as friends. He will be missed by everyone who was lucky enough to have known him, but his spirit will live on in their hearts.

Punkin is survived by a daughter, Brenda (Tim) Antell of Mahnomen and their children: Courtney (Joshua), B, Drake, Kaitlan, Jordan (Brianna) and Dradan; and grandchildren: Elijah, Elias, Ethan, Drake Jr., John, Azalea, one arriving in 2024, Alexis, Peyton, Mackenzie, Karen, Michelle, Joshua Jr. and Manny; a son, Charles Louis III of White Earth and his children: Scott, Shaleigh, Devon, Miya, Meya, Alisea, Conner, Chasity, Sophie, Sonnoma, Sheldon, Charlie, Ciara, Bunny, Alawna, Betty, Bella, Jimmy and PatPat; and grandchildren: Scott “Junebug” Jr., Aalaya, Jeremiah, Michael, Violet, Mathew, Nishiime, King, Braxten, Gracelyn, Esperenza, Khaleesi and Arlo.

In addition, Punkin is survived by two sisters, Ethel (Bob) Davey of Finley, ND, and Marilyn Teiken of Mahnomen; two brothers, Richard “Wayne” (Susan) Hanks of White Earth and LeRoy “Walleye” Hanks of Waubun and many nieces, nephews and cousins.

He was preceded by his parents; six brothers: Julius “Rat”; Ronald “Duck”; Robert “Otis”, Dallas “Kiddo”, Elvis “Beaver”, and John “Gook”; three sisters: Marge Bellanger, Goldie Hanks and Laverne Hanks.

Blessed be the memory of Charles “Punkin” Hanks Jr. Visitation was held from 5:00 pm – 9:00 pm on Tuesday, December 12, 2023, at St. Columba Episcopal Church in White Earth, MN, with a Prayer Service led by the Ojibwe Hymn Singers beginning at 7:00 pm. January is National Radon Action Month

Radon is a naturally occurring radioactive gas that can enter your home through cracks in the foundation. Just like air, radon is invisible and has no odor. Radon could be in your home, and you would never suspect it. Radon is a health concern because it is a carcinogen and causes lung cancer. Radon is the 2nd leading cause of lung cancer in the U.S. for people who don't smoke and is responsible for an estimated 21,000 deaths from lung cancer each year.

Homes on the Leech Lake Reservation range from low to high levels of radon. To date, we have assisted almost 400 Leech Lake community members in making sure their homes are safe by testing for and reducing radon levels. Testing is the only way to determine radon levels in your home.

Protect your Family – Prevent Lung cancer – Test your Home.
